ROARING BY—A banksful Little River rushes under Little River bridge at SH 36-US 190 southeast of Cameron. This shot caught the river before any prospect of going out of banks developed Tuesday, but by presstime Wednesday it appeared likely Little River and other Milam streams would flood once again.

LITTLE RIVER

It is really a fine year for meandering streams and sloughs along the Brazos basin.

Tempo of the current Tuesday morning while the rains came in another steady stream was quickening. Little River appeared certain to clear its banks for another of considerable times this spring.

Little can be said for the bottomland operator's opportunities while the water stands in the pastures and fields. It is fortunate three times as much land is in grass than 10 years ago (300,000 acres compared to 100,000 acres) since the cattle can be moved from fields in danger of flooding. Cotton 10 years ago would have been continuously drowned and replanted.

It was just about seven weeks ago that a four-inch rain helped maize and sent Little River and tributaries out of banks.

Residents of the Elm Creek area can appraise their vote even more favorably in view of these continuing rains. Current showers will take the rainfall total for the first six months plus early July toward the annual rainfall total of about 34 inches.

If things continue, the maize crop should be bumper, cotton should be good (if not overinfested) and cattle outstanding.

And the rains will continue toward, at the present rate, a 60-inch rainfall, which is sub-tropical in total about five times the rainfall of early 1960 drought years. Those were days when farmers hauled water in tanks on trucks when Milam town residents were convinced of the need for industry and rural residents were convinced that farming must be one of the hardest ways to make a living.

At this writing, flooding is in prospect even on highways. But with the runoff even in swollen creeks, we might be dry on higher ground though the creeks will still be out Thursday.

'BLOOM AND GROW'—The Crepe Myrtle trees here are typical of the flowering profusion in July that is usual only in May. These trees at East Eighth and Washington show the effect of abundant moisture.

DIPPING LOW—This Pecan tree dips its limbs low in the lush summer growth typical, again, of the rains that now exceed 30 inches in the first six months in Milam County. It appears that continued rains will almost double the rainfall in Central Texas, marking a sub-tropical influence uncommon to the area.

Four Die Over 4th In Auto Collision, River Drownings

Wiring Blamed For House Fire

Four persons died in July accidents in Milam County and one home destroyed by fire.

Two teen-age Corsicana girls drowned Wednesday evening in the Brazos River near Port Sullivan crossing between Cameron and Hearne.

An Abilene man and woman were killed when their car was in collision with a pickup truck on US 190 just inside the Milam County line.

And faulty wiring was blamed for a fire that destroyed the Pemberton house at 12th and Fannin Streets late Thursday night.

Cameron firemen also answered a call in Minerva July 2 when fire destroyed a house owned by Calvin Quigley.

The fire was believed to have started from the cooking stove when one of the Quiigley children was fixing breakfast.

Fireman Warren McCall said the call from Minerva came about 7:45 a.m., but the house was completely destroyed by the time the Cameron unit arrived.

TWO GIRLS DROWN

Joyce Ann Glover, 13, and Evie Sabo, 16, were on a fishing trip with Miss Glover's father, Monroe C. Johnson of Corsicana when they drowned in the Brazos River, about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Johnson told authorities he had gone downstream to check some fishing lines while the girls were swimming and when he returned they disappeared.

The father searched the area, diving into the swift water and found their bodies in deep water near where they had been swimming.

He pulled the bodies from the water, but was unable to revive them. The Hearne fire department rescue unit also tried to revive the girls.

COLLISION KILLS TWO

Tom Armond Taylor, 53, and Winifred Myatt Erwin, 58, both of Abilene, were killed when their car collided head-on with a pickup truck driven by Jack Robert Thornton, 39, of Hico.

The accident occurred on a curve just inside Milam County, 2.1 miles east of Rogers, about 6 p.m. July 4.

Highway Patrolman Tom Kirchoff said Taylor was driving east and Thornton was going west. The vehicles collided in the westbound lane.

Thornton was taken by ambulance to Scott and White Hospital where he was treated for a broken nose, broken ankle and minor cuts.

HOUSE BURNS

Danny Matula was credited with saving the lives of Holbert Pemberton, his mother, Mrs. Nora Pemberton and her two grandchildren when their home caught fire Thursday night.

Mrs. Frances Cole, mother of the two children, said her mother and brother were sleeping and her children watching television when Danny Matula, a May graduate of Yoe High School, alerted them that the house was on fire.

A short time after they left the house the roof caved in on the bed where Mrs. Pemberton had been sleeping.

Mrs. Cole said the children had noticed the smoke, but thought it was more smoke from the incinerator at Walled Lake Door factory that had caused a haze over town all evening. Matula spotted the fire as he drove by shortly after 11 p.m.

Warren McCall said the fire was out of control by the time the fire truck arrived and described the house and all the contents as a complete loss shortly after that.

Mrs. Cole, who was on duty as Cameron police radio dispatcher at the time of the fire, said the community had responded with clothing and household items to help start them housekeeping again. The family has moved temporarily to 504 W. 6th St., Cameron.

"We will always be grateful to Danny Matula for his quick thinking, the volunteer firemen and the people of Cameron who have been so kind to us since the fire," Mrs. Cole said.

Rains Flood County

More rain and heavy winds Monday and Tuesday caused some damage, sent Little River over flood stage Tuesday evening and closed four farm-to-market roads in Milam County.

Cameron recorded 1.72 inches of rain in 24 hours along with heavy winds Monday afternoon.

Rockdale was hardest hit with 4.26 inches of rainfall late Monday and 3.21 inches Tuesday. Heavy winds broke limbs from trees and knocked the shortwave antenna off the roof of City Hall Monday. Streets in the South Milam city were also flooded by the heavy downpour.

Roads closed were FM 485 on Elm Creek between Buckholts and Yarrellton, FM 908 on Brushy Creek between Rockdale and San Gabriel, FM 487 on the San Gabriel between Rockdale and Sharp and FM 2269.

TENTATIVE APPOINTMENT

Edwin A. Bigbee, local real estate broker and appraiser, has received tentative appointment as staff appraiser for Federal Housing Authoriity, Houston Regional Office, covering approximately 40 southeast Texas counties. He is to attend Fee Appraiser Seminar the latter part of July.

City Opens Bids

A 2 and three-quarter hour Council meeting Tuesday saw Councilmen approve bids for reroofing City Hall and the Cameron Fire Station.

Mayor E. A. Perrin and the Council also discussed contracts of the paving program with Slough Construction Co. and Texas Securities, San Antonio firm handling legal and finance work on the 100-block paving program.

Graham, in behalf of Graham Estate property, ask for consideration of withdrawing the paving on three sides of a block on E. 13th, Cleveland and Davis. Council took no action.

Council also voted to approve an ordinance closing the public hearing on the paving program last week, a typewriter maintenance contract with IBM, purchased four tires for CFD emergency vehicle and appointed Councilman R. W. Wells as Council spokesman on Airpark matters.

Bids on reroofing the two city buildings went to Colley Roofing Co., whose bid was about $12 less than Gilmeister Roofing.

Council also studied reports which showed that public works department was straightening street signs bent by vandals, enlarging city garbage dump pit, patching streets and spraying for mosquitos.

Wells urged that city efforts be increased in maintaining streets and cutting weeds on city right-of-way. He felt not enough was being done to keep weeds down in Cameron.

Mayor Perrin said planning was underway for an alternative to the federal program for water and sewer projects in North Cameron though it appeared the program might be approved in the next 10 days.

St. Edward Lists Hospital Features

Plans for the new $1,000,000 49-bed St. Edward Hospital and an architect's rendition of the facility have just been revealed by the hospital.

In revealing the plans for the new hospital Sister Mary Aloysius, representing the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word who operate the hospital, expressed the excitement of the Sisters.

"For the first time since assuming the operation of this hospital in 1946, we will be able to provide the citizens of this area with first class, modern-day health care facilities," said Sister Aloysius.

The new one-story brick building will face North Crockett and will be built on the southeast corner of the hospital's property. It will be elevated above the street level to comply with the present topography and will overlook a landscaped parking area. A sweep drive will lead up to the building and there will be a covered walkway from the drive to the main entrance of the building.

Included in the building will be the following facilities: 19 private rooms with baths and 15 double rooms with baths, two completely equipped surgical suites, expanded radiology and laboratory sections, physical therapy, pharmacy, delivery and labor room, nursery, administrative offices, business and medical records offices, kitchen, classroom, medical library and conference room.

A special feature of the new facility will be a snack bar and a gift shop.

Robert L. Ellett, general chairman of the St. Edward Hospital Development Fund said, "All of us can be proud of the new hospital that has been planned. It will be an important addition to the development of this community and will effectively meet the anticipated health needs of our citizens."

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Harvesting wildlife is one of the principal keys to successful wildlife management.

During the past 20 years this fact was pretty well established in fisheries. Once biologists began recommending the removal of creel limits from many species, and the chemical treatment against other species, more and larger game fish resulted.

Now you will find little argument against management of water and its contents.

However, wildlife management has been slower. Much of this dates back to the old belief that killing the female of the species reduces reproduction. There still are some landowners who are adamant. Mostly they are non-residents who just don't want wildlife killed, especially doe deer.

Wildlife management has worked wonderfully well on the Y—O ranch near Mountain Home, in the heart of the Hill country.

This is an 80,000-acre ranch owned by Charlie Schreiner III. It was established a hundred years ago by his grandfather, Capt. Chas. Schreiner, who set it up as one of the first game refuges in Texas.

A friend of mine has been hunting in that general area for 40 years. His first trip was to the Live Oak division of the Schreiner ranch back in 1928 when Dan Moody was governor. During the last half-dozen years he has been back to the ranch several times a year.

Schreiner, an avid hunter himself, made studies of the wildlife that was competing with his livestock on the range. It wasn't difficult for him to see that he had too many does. His deer were too small for the type and quality of the range.

When bioligists of the old Game and Fish Commission were successful in getting a "doe season by permit" in Kerr County, he was one of the first to open a place to controlled doe hunting.

He set a price of $25 for the first doe, $15 for the second and $10 for the third, making three doe cost the hunter only $50. It must be remembered, this was for the permit to kill the doe on his place. Wildlife is the property of the state and cannot be sold.

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Kent of Temple announce the engagement of their daughter, Janie Ann, to George Allen Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Foster of Cameron. Both Miss Kent and Mr. Foster will enter Texas Technological College this fall. The wedding will take place August 25 in Cameron.

Texas is the wintering ground for most of the doves from the middle west. They fly down to Texas, spend their winters on the mesquite flats of South Texas and in the grain fields, then return to their nesting grounds in Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, and other northern states.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to acknowledge our gratitude to Danny Matula for his thoughtfulness in arousing our loved ones when our home was on

We shall be eternally grateful to the people of Cameron for the way they have responded in our need since our home was destroyed by fire and also for the wonderful cooperation of the City Volunteer Firemen.

Wheat certificate payments to farmers participating in the 1968 wheat program will have a value of $1.38 per bushel. The payments are based on the difference between the July 1, 1968 wheat parity price of $2.63 per bushel and the 1968 crop national average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel. The 1967 value was $1.36 per bushel.

Wheat marketing certificates are authorized by the two-price provisions of the Food & Agriculture Act of 1965, guaranteeing participating farmers 100 percent of wheat parity price for their share of wheat while permitting support of market prices through loans at levels more competitive in world trade channels.

It will not be long before harvest of grain sorghum begins in the county. Producers participating in the 1968 Feed Grain Program are eligible to place their grain sorghum in the loan. The county loan rate is set at $1.77 per hundredweight.

What Others Say . . .
Youth And Politics . . .

Throughout the campuses young people of the United States are looking for answers. They are not doing it the easy way, by accepting what somebody else has concluded. This disturbs some members of the older generation who believe their views should be adopted without question or doubt.

However, in many areas of society it is good for views and approaches to be reexamined by the fresh, inquiring mind of youth.

Preston Smith, one of the leading candidates for governor made this point recently when he said: "Young people and students are full of the ideas necessary to keep our world and our society revitalized, refreshed and refurbished."

He suggested that politics is the positive outlet for the energies and frustrations of young people. He might have added that in this area young people can make great contributions and see the results quicker than in most other fields.

Politics on the right, the left, and the vast area in between is more than ever ready and eager for the enthusiasm and vitality of the young. The old pols have their eye on the population projections and they are well aware that before long half the population will be under 25.

Any young person who wants to make a mark, to improve his city, state or nation has an opportunity to do so in politics. This is the way to get things done. Unlike demonstrations without real purpose, or with dope, or dropping out, political actions can make the world better.

Use Plastic Pipe To Develop New Watering Places

COLLEGE STATION

Water is necessary in the husbandry of range livestock but a point often overlooked is the use of water in grazing management. Too, water is essential for the wildlife of the area, reminds B. J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist at Texas A&M University.

The development of a new watering facility in an underutilized area of a pasture offers an excellent method of getting more uniform and officient utilization of the range forage. New watering locations may be necessary beore a deferred rotation grazing system can be initiated.

Inefficient use is made of range forage when certain areas of a pasture are overgrazed while other areas go relatively untouched, he says. The location of watering places in undergrazed areas results in the livestock moving into these areas to do part of their grazing.

Often it is not feasible to drill a new well, a spring is not available or the soil type or area does not lend itself to the construction of an earthen stock tank. When this happens, plastic pipe (black polyethylene) lines can be the answer, suggests the specialist.

Conventional float controlled water troughs or the newer automatic fountains can be used. The plastic pipe should be placed beneath the soil surface to prevent deterioration from sunlight. It is not necessary to bury the pipe to a frost-free depth provided the pressure is removed during the winter.

Session's Record Is Not How Many But How Much

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

When the special session of the 60th Legislature called it quits and went home, its accomplishments seemed scant -- from a cold statistical point of view.

During the 30 days of the session called by Gov. John Connally, the 150 House members introduced 32 bills, and the 31 senators kicked in 30. When all was said and done, only five House bills and no Senate bills were passed.

However, two of those House bills were the reasons Connally called the session in the first place. So their passage within the allotted 30 days gave an appearance of success to the session.

One, of course, was the bill making state appropriations for the fiscal year beginning September 1, and the other was the tax bill to raise the money to pay for all those appropriations.

Texas taxpayers will start feeling the bite October 1 when the one-cent increase in the state sales tax, the one-cent increase in the motor-vehicle sales tax and th 50-cent-per$1,000 increase in the franchise tax go into effect.

Rep. Frank Lombardino of San Antonio sponsored the only other new law of interest to the average citizen. It prohibits the carrying of pistols or other concealable weapons into alcoholic - beverage establishments.

The two remaining pieces of legislation were concerned with the internal affairs of state government -- transferring $3 million from the Operators' and Chauffeurs' License Fund to the General Revenue Fund and authorizing the Comptroller to transfer funds between items of his appropriation made by Legislature. Only other thing of substance that the two houses agreed on was creation of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Physical Fitness. This was done by resolution.

Each house did create interim committees to study certain problems and report back to the next Legislature.

Senate set up a committee "to study the problem of locating and securing more land which could be set aside for parks and recreational purposes, the better utilization of existing parks and development of existing parks to accomodate more visitors."

House created interim committees to study the Texas Election Code, the financial relationship between permittees and licenses under the Liquor Control Act and the need for laws on organ transplantation.

Also, the lower chamber set up a Natural Fiber Study Committee and a Family Law Study Committee and asked the University of Texas Graduate School of Business to study the possible creation of a Texas Stock Exchange.

COURTS SPEAK

Texas Supreme Court ruled that a water district—failed to be created by the voters in its original district—could not change its boundaries to include only those areas which approved it in that election. Court also said that the district's directors could not force the counties within its proposed area to pay its organizational costs.

In another case, High Court agreed that St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company of Texas should not be required to maintain its Texas general office and machine shops in Tyler.

Court agreed to hear October 2 appeals of two Dallas savings and loan associations which are seeking the same location for branch offices.

AUTO INSURANCE RISING

State Insurance Board experts have recommended an increase of about 2.8 percent in auto insurance premiums.

Although statewide averages are misleading since rates are set by 40 different territories, liability coverage appears to be going up on 33 zones for most drivers. Young drivers face higher rates in 22 territories, lower in seven and the same in 11.

Biggest increase will be for comprehensive and collision policies where the insurance board staff has recommended a hike of 7.7 percent and 7.1 percent respectively. Insurance company spokesmen claim rising cost of parts and repairs has offset a better traffic accident record.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

City firemen granted leave for military services are, on return, entitled to credit for pay purposes, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other opinions Martin concluded that:

—State agencies can contract for professional services of attorneys providing th ey first obtain the written approval of the attorney general on rate and selection.

—Justices of the Peace may issue certified copies o birth dnd death certificates, but fees collected should go to county treasury.

—University o Texas Board of Regents has authority to contract with Central Energy Corporation for heating-cooling services at UT Medical School in San Antonio.

—Court reporters are entitled to compensation, subject to limitations, for taking depositions from indigent defendants in criminal cases.

—Firemen's Relief and Retirement Fund trustees may permit fund investments in the name of a bank's nominee, and has authority to use trust fund income to pay costs of administering investments of the trust.

SALES TAX SCHEDULE

When the new increase in the state sales tax goes into effect on October 1, shoppers in cities which have adopted the city sales tax will begin paying the first of the four pennies when they spend their first 13 cents.

Tax applicable to city sales tax covered sales: From 1 to 12 cents, no tax; 13 to 37 cents, one penny; 38 to 62 cents, two pennies; 63 to 86 cents, three pennies; and 88 cents to $1.12, four pennies.

Shoppers in areas where there is no city sales tax are facing this schedule: 1 to 16 cents, no tax; 17 to 49 cents, one penny; 50 to 83 cents, two pennies; and 84 cents to $1.16, three pennies.

However, the Legislature did kick in a few more exceptions. One exempts sales through a coin-operated vending machine when each sale is for 16 cents or less, and another will exempt shipping charges when they are figured separately from the price of the commodities.

A third will exempt machinery used exclusively on farms or ranches in the building or maintaining of roads and water facilities, and exempted from the new third state penny will be sales resulting from a written contract entered into before October 1, and sales for which bids were submitted prior to October 1.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

I was out here yesterday morning studying about doing some work and wondering why it is people are always hijacking airplanes but nobody ever hijacks a tractor when a newspaper started blowing along the ground toward me and I watched it hoping it'd get near enough so I wouldn't have to get up and luck was with me and it fell right in my lap right side up, so I started reading. The tractor probably wouldn't have started anyway, maybe it will tomorrow, although I've never believed in putting off till tomorrow what you can put off till the day after that, and I'm not prejudiced against next week.

It's about time, I said, and read that while nothing definite has been agreed upon and North Viet Nam was still saying the way to end the war is for us and South Viet Nam to surrender, still an atmosphere of cordiality is believed developing because the representatives are now taking longer coffee breaks together.

"Today's coffee break lasted 48 minutes," the report said, adding that this is interpreted as a good sign.

This is a new wrinkle in international diplomacy and it may have worldwide reverberations. I can see office workers in a thousand cities now, inlcuding maybe Cameron, stretching their coffee breaks out to 48 minutes and claiming they're doing it in the interest of international peace. With two of these breaks a day, you can see what a strong effort this will be toward settlement of international conflicts. There may be more peace workers in this world than anybody ever dreamed of.

Of course it may cause business tc go broke but you can't have everything.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Imagination, Drive Summer Time Jobs

By Jane Callaway

Wish you were working?

From the material I have been reading, the first big rule for finding a summer job is to start looking for them as early as you can. It is best to have one before school is out; but if that didn't work, some positions don't start before July—like resort or farm jobs.

Maybe you can't find many paying jobs—well, get your imagination going and create your own business. It this sounds like your "cup of tea", be sure you check local laws concerning your endeavor. Then comes lots of hard work. I found some ideas that could help you.

1. Start a housecleaning service. You might like to specialize in one area—polish silver, wash blinds, clean garages, etc.

2. Be a gardener for others. Plan and plant flower beds, trim hedges, and mow lawns.

3. If you sew, start a boutique full of things you've made yourself. They might all sell for under a dollar - sunglass cases, aprons, painted stone paperweights, covered matchbooks. Of course, this would need early preparation.

6. Give lessons in something you know exceptionally well - Spanish, bridge, tennis, the guitar. If you give group lessons, you can charge less, but earn more for your time.

9. If you can prepare a special food, make it in quantity and sell it - a salad dressing, a soup, a coffee cake, etc.

When you start the search for your summer job, you should know what you want from it. You might want to try out a career that interests you. Do you want to be at home or away from home? Do you want to work indoors or outdoors?

You might want something you could continue part-time when school starts. Do you want a summer that's mostly training for something? Do you want a job for the excitement of a totally different experience? You could be interested in making as much money as possible - for college or for clothes, or to help at home.

If there is a particular job you want, you might prepare a resume to take to your first interview. This would include your name and address, telephone number, work experience, education, extra-curricular activities, hobbies, skills, age, personal references may be added. A resume should be as concise and direct as you can make it.

You should carefully plan your interview for a job - a poor one could very well ruin your chances. Be a little early for your appointment, look neat and well groomed and be appropriately dressed. Never take a friend along - some of my research material said this made us look immature. Bring all the information you'll need. Try to anticipate the questions you might be asked - this will help if you are a little nervous. Prepare some questions you will want to ask. Show enthusiasm and a mature manner.

You will get the job, I know. Maybe it will be in one of these categories - camp jobs, farm jobs, or working in a summer theater (that sounds like fun), working in an office (maybe you want a business career), working at a resort (I have met some college students working at Yellowstone and Grand Teton - they were enjoying every minute of it), working in stores (extra money to spend).

You might be interested in a volunteer job. Head Start is a government program for underprivileged pre-school children. REACH, the Red Cross summer program. Hospitals have many kinds of volunteer jobs. Political campaigners use teen volunteers for clerical work. Community service projects, vacation bible schools in your church can use you.

There's a good detailed directory to summer volunteer jobs sponsored by religious congregations. It's called "Invest Yourself" and can be ordered for 50 cents from: The Commission on Youth, Service Projects, Room 832, 475 Riverside Drive, New York, New York 10027.

Mike and Mark Hensley are busy farming this summer. Lynn Weems is busy keeping our lawns looking nice. Bette Whitley is baby-sitting on a regular basis. I'm sure we have other busy teenagers, but I didn't hear about them.

QUOTE. If you laze away your summer, it might as well never have existed. In years to come you'll think "Now, what did I do that year?" Don't let your answer be, "Nothing."

Dallas Firm To Market New Non-Nicotine Smoking Product

DALLAS

Bravo Smokes, Inc. reorganization is completed and headquarters and manufacturing operations have been established in Dallas. The company plans to begin marketing a totally new non-nicotine smoking product this summer.

A group of investors refinanced the corporation after it went through bankruptcy proceedings earlier this year. Bedford S. Wynne of Dallas, is executive vice president and general manager of the reorganized company.

Bravo was organized in 1965 in Hereford, Texas, to produce non-nicotine smoking products from specially treated lettuce leaves. The company owns patents for curing processes that make lettuce leaves an acceptable substitute for tobacco.

Production of smoking products is expected to begin later this month in a Dallas factory. Initial marketing will be limited to Texas.

Manufacturing and laboratory facilities are now located in temporary quarters in the Trinity Industrial District. Permanent headquarters for Bravo will be constructed in Dallas later this year.

The initial major effort of the recognized corporation has been to develop a new smoking product comparable to cigarettes in every way -- except the absence of nicotine, according to Wynne. He explained that Bravo has been working with chemists over the nation and that experiments with literally thousands of additives have produced some 10 different products.

"We are now completing market research tests on smokers with the best of these blends, and our results have been very favorable," he said. "We are determined that the product will be acceptable to smokers strictly on the basis of its pleasant flavor and taste."

Wynne said the original Bravo was sold primarily as a "health cigarette" and that its flavor and odor were generally unacceptable. "Even with an unsatisfactory product, however, Bravo had sales of better than $1.3 million in little more than a year," he pointed out.

"We know the demand exists for a satisfying, non-nicotine smoke, and we are confident we will be able to supply this demand in the very near future," he said.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was organized as a federation Dec. 30, 1922.

Use Freezer For Summer Meals

During hot summer months, it is easier to open the freezer for baked goodies or casseroles than to spend hours in the kitchen. Freezing is the only method to preserve many of these baked or cooked goods.

Christine Laws, County Home Demonstration Agent says to cook most breads, cakes and pies before freezing. Cool them and wrap in moisture-vapor-proof material.

Use standard recipes for breads and cakes. For quick breads use double-action baking powder. Biscuits and muffins are better frozen uncooked. Bran muffins, fruit and nut breads are better if baked before freezing.

You may freeze bread and rolls baked or unbaked. Use a recipe with a fairly large amount of fat and sugar. Baked products may be stored as long as 9-12 months.

If you want to freeze dough, allow it to rise until double in bulk. Doughs shaped before freezing may be inferior, even when stored only two weeks.

Prebaked cakes containing fat may dry out slightly after two months, and after four months, flavor changes may be expected.

Use pure extracts as imitations may produce off-flavors. Angel food, yellow sponge, chiffon and fruit cakes baked before freezing will keep up to a year.

Uncooked confectioner's sugar frostings freeze best. Boiled and other soft frostings containing egg whites and cream fillings are not suitable for freezing.

FREEZING PIES

Fruit, vegetable and chiffon pies freeze successfuly. Fruit pies may be frozen either before or after baking. Crust is more tender and flaky and flavor fresher when the pies are frozen before baking.

Miss Laws advises against freezing attice-top pies. Don't cut stealm vents in top crusts of frozen unbaked pies unti they have been removed from the freezer.

Do not overcook foods that are to be frozen. Foods that are to be heated before serving are best if only partially cooked; meat should be tender but still firm, vegetables slightly underdone.

Use as little fat as possible in gravies and sauces. Fats have a tendency to separate, but if used in smaller proportions, they will recombine when heated. Fried foods are apt to become rancid after one to two months of storage. Use seasonings sparingly as some of them change during storage. Pepper gets stronger. Cloves may become stronger and discolor frozen fillings.

COOLING IMPORTANT

It is important to cool cooked foods promptly to prevent continued cooking. Foods lose flavor rapidly when held at high temperatures. And warm foods invite bacteria growth. Submerging the cooking pan in ice water hastens cooling. After cooling, package in freezer material immediately.

Pack all types of cooked foods as solidly as possible to avoid air spaces in the containers. The use of monosodium glutamate enhances the flavor of meats, poultry, seafoods, precooked foods and vegetables.

Casserole dishes containing rice, macaroni, spaghetti, or noodles may be frozen. To serve, bake in 350 degree oven for 40-60 minutes. You can freeze almost any type of creamed dish except those containing hard-cooked egg whites. Avoid overcooking and cool rapidly in a pan of ice water. Don't store longer than two to four months.

SUMMER VEGETABLES

One of the most fun things about summer is fresh vegetables on the market. But do you avoid using them because you think they take too long to prepare? Many fresh vegetables actually are 'convenience foods.' And many are best served raw.

Try serving cauliflower, cucumbers, sweet peppers and onions raw. Young carrots needn't be peeled; just rinse, inspect and lop off the stem end and a bit of the root. Summer squash shouldn't be peeled, just rinse and slice.

Cabbage ahd head lettuce should be up-ended under the cold water faucet for a minute, then cut in wedges, chopped or broken coarsely for a brief cooking period.

Sweet corn is a quick cooker when dunked in a kettle of boiling water. Tomato halves, seasoned and butter-dabbed, broil in two or three minutes. By cooking vegetables only until crisp and tender, you have more flavor, better texture and less preparation time. Most homemakers overcook vegetables, probably because they have always had plenty of fuel.

DIPLOMATIC POUCH

Washington D.C. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State.

COTTON IMPORTS

Is it true that the United States is continuing to purchase long staple cotton from Egypt because of US Government restrictions on American farmers?

D.B.H.
Tustin, Calif.

Dear Mr. H.:

The principal type of cotton that American buyers seek in the United Arab Republic (Egypt) is extra long staple, commonly referred to as "ELS," which has a staple length of at least 1⅜ inches. In recent years the United States has produced about half the ELS consumed in this country and has imported the rest from the UAR, Peru and the Sudan; primarily of staple lengths longer than domestically produced ELS.

ELS is produced domestically in only four states—Arizona, California, New Mexico, and Texas. US production in the 1966-67 cotton year was 72,000 bales compared with a total cotton crop of 9.6 million bales.

Imports of ELS are strictly limited by a quota established under Section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933. The quota is global, i.e., it specifies the maximum quantity of ELS that may be imported each year but does not specify the quantity to be imported from any one country. This decision rests with the cotton trade.

ANTI—CASTRO ACTIVITIES

While I have been a general supporter of US foreign policy since the beginning of the Kennedy Administration, as well as during the Truman Administration, some news on the front page of today's Washington Post shook my faith in the integrity of our present Cuban policy.

The article I refer to said we were giving - or had given - aid and comfort to Cuban refugees in this country who had then been landed in Cuba (and captured) for the purpose of sabotage and subversion against the Castro regime and, if possible, to assassinate Castro himself or cause his assassination. Naturally I knew we were up to these tactics long before this story broke, but the timing of this news, coming, as it does, during the Latin American Solidarity Organization conference, and at the time when we are fighting the exportation of Fidelismo into Latin American countries, is very unfortunate for the US. It makes great propaganda for Castro.

Also, I think it ill befits a country that has so recently lost a beloved president by assassination to lend support to those who would assassinate the head of another state regardless of what we may think of the socio-economic policies of that state.

W.R.E.
Arotn, Va.
arlington, Va.

Dear Mr. E.:

The United States Government neither supports nor encourages Cuban exile groups which espouse a policy of paramilitary forays directed against Cuba. On the contrary, the government frequently nips such activities in the bud, and this has evoked criticism directed against the government by both Cuban exile groups and United States citizens who favor a policy of supporting action against Cuba.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU
Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that family and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. You in the Church and the Church in you form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

You have called a man to become your minister; you have chosen him with calm deliberation...with great care. That means that you desire a spiritual church in the service and worship of God.

The minister is your prophet, even as he is also the prophet of the Most High. It follows that you have promised to harken to the message which that "preacher-prophet" is to bring. Else, why did you make him your minister? He expects, through prayer and meditation, to find the will of God for himself and for you and for our world. Listen then to what the divine purpose for you may be!

The preacher is the leader of his people, under the Spirit of God. How necessary that there shall be women and men to follow where he marks out the path of Christian living! That likely means regular attendance at the services of prayer in your church. It means also an eager listening to the Scriptural exposition, in which men find what God has for them to be and to do, as well as the blessed aid of His Spirit in all one's efforts.

The Church is a fellowship of women and men, inspired by the example and the teaching of the Master, united about the Spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ, and committed with Him to the coming of the Kingdom of God upon the earth. It takes us all together to create and to maintain such a healing and strengthening and comforting fellowship. You and I need the divine comradeship which the church affords. Let's do our part to make a good church in our community; God will do His part, we may be sure. As much so as does the Preacher, we have a ministry to carry out. "Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it..." Attend your church.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

BREAK FOR VETERANS?

Three men apply for a single government job. One is a war veteran, the other two are not. Should the first man get the job just because he is a veteran?

To some degree, veterans have been getting this kind of a break ever since Civil War days. The motive, of course, is to give them an extra reward for their service to the nation.

Still, they get this reward at the expense of non-veterans who might legitimately complain of discrimination. For the non-veterans are, in effect, penalized for something that may be in no way their fault.

To reconcile these conflicting considerations, the courts have worked out some practical guidelines.

In the first place, if a civil service law shows flagrant favoritism for veterans, it will probably be held unconstitutional. Thus, a court voided a law that allowed veterans to get on the local police force without taking any examinations. Pointing out that a veteran so hired might be totally unfit for the job, the court said:

"Public offices are created for the common good, and not the profit, honor, or private interest of any one man or class of men."

On the other hand, a court upheld a law that gave a more modest advantage to veterans seeking to be firemen. Here a veteran was given the edge only if he had shown, by competitive examinations, that he was just as qualified as other applicants. The court said it was fair to assume that his experience in the service might well make him a better fireman.

Likewise, the law may — and often does—given reasonable advantages to veterans in the matter of firing. For instance, the federal civil service law gives them extra procedural safeguards in case of discharge.

In one case a veteran employed at a federal shipyard was fired on charges that he had gotten too fresh with certain young women at a party.

But he won reinstatement when the management failed to come up with sufficient details of his alleged misconduct. The court said he had not been given the consideration to which, as a veteran, he was entitled.
